

IASA News Briefs
Monday, September 12, 2016

School bans homework so kids can run and play. But will they run to play video games?

Landmark ruling in Connecticut: State can no longer allow 'rich districts to flourish and poor to flounder'

Suburban school district might offer new courses focusing on law, equity

Teacher challenge in digital age: Bathroom 'passports'

Decatur schools explore teacher-produced curricula